Subject: Is your buy button working on your website?

I know it sounds like a simple ask. But how does someone buy from you?

This is EXACTLY what I am training on this week. Don't miss this and sign up now:
>> SIGN UP NOW <<

Do you have your service listed somewhere?
How do your customers see it?
What happens when they click to buy?
Do you deliver the value efficiently?
How do you add to it later?

I'll show you how to do this (and a lot more) in the upcoming training. Make sure you sign up here.

You have to build a website that gives them the information about what you have to offer.

The buy button needs to integrate with the delivery of your product. Suppose the product is partially electronic (like a service you provide plus online training) or wholly electronic, like a complete learning portal. In that case, you will need to make sure your cart integrates with your website.

I'll show you how to do this too. But you need to sign up here

Do you leverage PLR correctly to supplement the value of your product. I'll show you how to use the PLR you bought to do just that, finally.

I'll show you A-Z how to set all of this up. It'll be a doozy but who else to show you how to do this but me. Don't miss this must-see training.

Joe the "G.O.A.T." farmer
p.s. Is your buy button working on your website? Sign Up Here